

Erika R. Magnaye
IT-SM-3201

Service Culture

If you were an animal, what would you be?

- If I were an animal, I think will be a bird. As we all know a bird can freely do what they want without limitations. They can travel no matter how far it is, they see the beauty of the world and I always want to travel and do things I want without any hindrance just like the bird but still consider things that can cause negative consequences.

If you were to describe your own unique talent and potential - what you love to do and dream to be - what would it be?

- One of my unique talent and potential is the capacity to do and solve things on my own, I love to explore things and learn something new that enhance my knowledge. Since I became an IT students, I always dream to be a software engineer or obtain a job related to my course. I always make sure that I see the brighter side of things no matter how draining or difficult the situation is.

How would you draw your own animal?

